Letter to Referring Professionals

Free NBO practice visits for newborn families

[DATE]

Dear [COLLEAGUE'S NAME AND TITLE],

Good day! I am a licensed practitioner at ConnectEd Kids Therapy Center in Silang, Cavite. I am training in the Newborn Behavioral Observations (NBO) system, developed at the Brazelton Institute, Boston Children's Hospital, and I am working toward NBO certification under the guidance of an NBO certification mentor. I am writing to ask for your help in meeting families who might like to take part.

What the NBO is

The NBO is a short, relationship-building observation that is done together with parents, with babies from birth up to about three months of age (corrected age for babies born early). Through 18 gentle observations, it helps parents see what their baby can do, what their baby likes, and what their baby finds hard right now, and it opens a conversation about how to support them. It is strengths-based. It is not a test, a diagnosis, or a medical evaluation, and it does not replace the care your patients receive from you.

What I am asking

- Please share the enclosed Parent Invitation and Program Overview with parents of babies aged 0–3 months who may be interested.
- Families may contact me directly or, if they agree, complete the enclosed Referral Slip so that I can reach out. Please do not share names or health information without the family's permission.

What families can expect

- A free visit of about [VISIT LENGTH] at [VISIT LOCATION], with the baby's parent or another family member present throughout.
- A warm, no-pressure session. Parents may stop at any time, and the baby's comfort always comes first.
- A written Parent Summary, written "in the baby's voice," for the family to keep.
- Clear written consent before anything begins. Recording is optional and separate; families who decline recording can still take part.

Who is eligible

- Babies from birth to about 3 months (corrected age for premature babies).
- A parent or family member is present for the whole visit.
- The baby is living at home with the family and is medically stable.
- For twins or multiples, one baby is observed per visit; a separate visit can be arranged for another.

Privacy and professional boundaries

I share what I observe in plain, strengths-focused language. I do not diagnose, prescribe, or give medical advice. If I notice something I think a family may wish to talk through with their baby's doctor, I will say so kindly and leave the decision with them. What I send to my certification mentor and the Brazelton Institute carries only the baby's first initial and age, never names or contact details, and families are told this in the consent.

Thank you for considering this. Your referrals help me complete my training and give families a gentle, supportive start. I would be glad to answer questions or to speak with your team.

Warm regards,

A licensed practitioner
