NBO Certification Tracker

For the practitioner. Do not send this document to anyone.

Rules at a glance (from the NBO Certification Guide)

- Submit documentation of 5 NBOs you administered: 5 different babies, or 4 babies with 1 baby seen twice at least a week apart.
- A colleague may be present as a "practice buddy," but only the person who administered the NBO submits it.
- For multiples, only one baby per session counts.
- Every certification NBO must include a parent or other family member.
- Each NBO needs a Recording Form, a Parent Summary, and a Narrative (typically 500–1,000 words).
- Label forms with the baby's first initial, gestational age, and current or corrected age. No patient identifiers.
- Across the 5 sets, every one of the 18 items must be recorded at least once. Tick only items you administered or observed. The anticipatory guidance column may be ignored.
- Submit your first one or two NBOs for review before the rest. Then send the rest one at a time or all together.
- Email attachments to your Level 2 NBO Certification mentor, [MENTOR NAME AND EMAIL: Lise Johnson or Susan ___, check your email], with a cc to institute@childrens.harvard.edu.
- When ready, complete the online Certificate Request Form with the exact spelling of your name and credentials.

Rate each 1 to 5 (1 = strongly disagree, 5 = strongly agree), or N/A.

Prompt	V1	V2	V3	V4	V5
I paused and settled my own state before meeting the family.
I greeted the family warmly and made them feel welcome.
I set the space: soft lights, baby at the center, family close.
I described the goals of the session.
I read the room and adjusted my stance to meet the parent where they were.
I responded to the parent's questions and concerns.
I confirmed the parent's own observations of the baby.
I reframed negative attributions, if any.
I offered positive, developmentally informed observations throughout.
I stayed culturally humble.
I balanced my attention between baby and parent, and invited the parent to take part.
I used the baby's behavior to guide suggestions rather than lecturing.
We co-created the review of strengths and challenges, and completed the Parent Summary together.
I said it was "just a snapshot" and encouraged the parent to keep observing.

Summary reflections

After each visit, note: Did I really get to know the baby? Did the parent and I feel connected? Did I find the baby's behavior hard to manage? Were there cultural barriers? Would I like to see this family again?

5. PRIVATE KEY: do not send, do not photograph with submissions

This page is the only place that links a visit code to a real name. Keep it separate from the certification documents, stored securely, and delete it when the retention period ends.
