Social Media Kit

Captions, posts, and replies for the free NBO observation program (Facebook and Instagram)

Before you post

- No photos or videos of real babies or families unless that family signed the marketing consent (Consent 3) for that exact use. Use illustrations, stock images, or your own materials (rattle, red ball, blanket).
- Never name a family or baby, or describe details that could identify them.
- Never share what you observed in any visit. No scores, and no “normal” or “not normal.”
- Say “observation” and “get to know your baby.” Avoid “assessment,” “test,” “screening,” “evaluation,” “therapy,” and “treatment.”
- Say “NBO trainee” and “working toward certification.” Do not say “certified NBO practitioner” until the certificate is issued.
- Always say it is free and voluntary, and that the parenting class is encouraged but not required.
- Do not promise results (for example, “will improve sleep”). Use “may help you understand.”
- Add the required line below to every post and story that makes an offer.
- Health questions in comments: reply with general kindness, move the conversation to private message, and encourage families to talk to their baby’s doctor. For emergencies: call 911 or go to the nearest hospital.
- Mention the Brazelton Institute only factually (“developed at”). Do not use its logo or suggest it endorses these visits.

Required line (copy under every offer post)

Free practice observation offered by an NBO trainee of ConnectEd Kids Therapy Center. It is not a medical examination, diagnosis, or medical advice.

A. Intro caption (the main announcement)

Facebook version (about 230 words)

Your newborn is already telling you things. 👶💬

The first weeks with a baby come with big questions. Why is she crying? What helps him settle? Is this a good time to play?

At ConnectEd Kids Therapy Center, we are opening free observation visits for families of babies from birth to about 3 months, using the Newborn Behavioral Observations (NBO): a gentle way to get to know your baby, together.

In a visit, you will:

✔️ See what your baby likes and how your baby calms

✔️ Learn your baby’s cues, from sleepy to “I need a break”

✔️ Hear what you are already doing well

✔️ Take home a Parent Summary written “in your baby’s voice”

It is free, relaxed, and judgment-free. It is not a test or a medical check-up, and you can stop any time.

New to us? Start with our parenting class, [CLASS NAME], where we talk about baby behavior, cues, and confidence in the early months. [CLASS DETAILS] We encourage you to join, but you do not need the class to book a visit.

📩 Message us or call 0906 845 4274 and ask your questions first.

> Free practice observation offered by an NBO trainee of ConnectEd Kids Therapy Center. It is not a medical examination, diagnosis, or medical advice.

Instagram version (about 110 words)

> Your newborn is already talking to you. 👶
>
> We are opening free observation visits for babies from birth to about 3 months, using the Newborn Behavioral Observations (NBO): a gentle way to get to know your baby, together.
>
> ✔️ See what your baby likes
> ✔️ Learn your baby's cues
> ✔️ Hear what you are already doing well
> ✔️ Take home a Parent Summary "in your baby's voice"
>
> Free. Relaxed. Not a test. 🤍
>
> Start with our parenting class, [CLASS NAME]. Joining is encouraged, not required.
>
> 📩 Message us or call 0906 845 4274.
>
> Free practice observation offered by an NBO trainee of ConnectEd Kids Therapy Center. It is not a medical examination, diagnosis, or medical advice.

B. Post series (10 posts)

Each works on Facebook as written. For Instagram, keep the first two lines and the call to action. Add the required line to every post.

Post 1: The NBO in one line

The NBO is a gentle way for parents and a trained observer to watch a newborn together and ask one question: What is my baby telling us? Stop. Look. Listen. 🤍 Free visits for families of babies from birth to about 3 months. Message us to learn more.

Visual: soft illustration of a parent's hands and a baby's hand.

Post 2: Free for newborn families

Free. That is the whole price. 🎁 We are an NBO trainee team at ConnectEd Kids Therapy Center, and we are offering free one-to-one observation visits to families of babies from birth to about 3 months. No fees, no purchase, no pressure. Message us with your baby's age and a good time to talk.

Visual: simple text card, "Free NBO observation visits."

Post 3: Your baby is already talking

A yawn. A look away. A tiny frown. A wide-eyed stare at your face. 👀 Newborns "talk" long before words. In an NBO visit, we learn to read those signals together, so you can feel more confident about what your baby needs. Curious? Message us.

Visual: illustration of four baby expressions.

Post 4: Not a test

Not a test. Not a diagnosis. Not pass or fail. ✋ The NBO is a calm, strengths-based visit where we notice what your baby does well and what your baby finds hard right now, then talk about what could help. You stay with your baby the whole time, and you can stop whenever you like.

Visual: text card with three crossed-out words and a heart.

Post 5: What happens in a visit

Here is what a visit looks like: 1️⃣ We settle in somewhere comfortable. 2️⃣ We watch your baby quietly together. 3️⃣ We try a few gentle observations, and you are invited to help. 4️⃣ We talk about what we saw. 5️⃣ We fill out a Parent Summary together, and you keep it. Nothing we do is painful. If your baby cries, we comfort your baby together.

Visual: five-step graphic.

Post 6: What to bring

Getting ready for your visit? 🧺 Bring what your baby usually uses: a blanket, a pacifier if you use one, a diaper and wipes, and anything you need for feeding. Feed your baby shortly before if you can, and wear clothes that make changing easy. We bring the rest. Message us for the full checklist.

Visual: checklist graphic.

Post 7: Start with the class

New parent? Start with the class. 🤍 Our parenting class, [CLASS NAME], helps you understand your baby's behavior and cues. [CLASS DETAILS] And for families of babies from birth to about 3 months, we also offer a free NBO observation visit. Joining the class is encouraged, and you can book a visit even if you cannot join.

Visual: class announcement card.

Post 8: For professionals (referral call-out)

Calling pediatricians, OBs, midwives, nurses, and lactation consultants. 🩺 We are offering free NBO observation visits to families of babies from birth to about 3 months and would be grateful for your referrals. We do not need names or health information from you; please let families contact us directly. Message us for a referral letter.

Visual: text card. Audience: professionals.

Post 9: Questions we hear

Is it free? Yes. Do I need to join the class? No, but you are welcome. Will it hurt my baby? Nothing we do is painful, and we pause whenever you or your baby need it. Do I have to be recorded? No. Recording is optional and separate. Is it a test? No. Ask us anything. 💬

Visual: four-question card.

Post 10: Thank you (post only when true, with no identifying details)

To the families who have welcomed us into this early, tender time: thank you. 🤍 You teach us something new every visit. We are still offering free observation visits for babies from birth to about 3 months. Message us to learn more.

Visual: illustration only. Do not use photos of participants without Consent 3.

C. Carousel script (6 slides)

1. Title: "Your newborn is already talking to you."
2. What: Free NBO observation visits, from birth to about 3 months.
3. Four areas: how your baby's body copes, moves, switches between sleep and awake, and connects with you.
4. You gain: your baby's personality, cues, strengths, and a Parent Summary.
5. Not: a test, a diagnosis, or medical advice. You can stop any time.
6. Join: message 0906 845 4274 · info.connectedkidsph@gmail.com. Parenting class encouraged, not required.

D. Story or reel script (about 25 seconds)

"Did you know your newborn is already communicating? 👶 A yawn, a look away, a tiny frown, they all mean something. We are offering free NBO observation visits for babies from birth to about 3 months. It is not a test. It is a gentle way to get to know your baby together. Message us to learn more."

E. Reply templates

If someone asks…	Reply
Is it free?	Yes, it is completely free. No fees and no purchase needed. 🤍

If someone asks…	Reply
How old can my baby be?	Visits are for babies from birth to about 3 months (corrected age if born early). If your baby is older, we would love to see you at our parenting class, [CLASS NAME].
Where is it?	[VISIT LOCATION]. Message us and we will arrange what works for your family.
Can my husband or lola join?	Yes, a parent or another family member joins for the whole visit.
Will you tell me if something is wrong?	I do not diagnose or give medical advice. If I notice something I think you may want to talk through with your baby's doctor, I will say so kindly, and the decision is always yours.
Do I have to be recorded?	No. Recording is optional and has its own consent. You can say no and still take part.
Health concern in a comment	Thank you for sharing. We are not able to give medical advice here. Please speak with your baby's doctor, and message us privately if you would like to talk. For emergencies, call 911 or go to the nearest hospital.

F. Hashtags

#NBO #NewbornBehavior #KnowYourBaby #NewbornCare #FirstTimeParents #ParentingClass #EarlyRelationships #ConnectEdKids #SilangCavite #Cavite #PinoyParents

G. Suggested 3-week schedule

Week	Posts
Week 1	Intro caption → Post 1 → Post 3 → Post 7
Week 2	Post 4 → Post 5 → Post 6 → Post 8 (professionals)
Week 3	Post 2 → Post 9 → Carousel → Story or reel. Post 10 only when true.