Consent 1: Taking Part and Sharing Information

Required to take part. Please read, ask questions, then sign.

This form is between you and [YOUR NAME], an NBO trainee at ConnectEd Kids Therapy Center (legal name: ConnectEducation Kids Therapy Center), Unit 102, University Medical Plaza Building, Richland Homes Phase 3, Brgy. Puting Kahoy, Silang, Cavite 4118 (“the Center”). It explains a free NBO observation visit with your baby. A version in Taglish is available. The two are meant to say the same thing; if you notice any difference, tell me before you sign and I will explain.

1. What this is

The Newborn Behavioral Observations (NBO) is a set of 18 gentle observations done together with parents, from birth to about 3 months. It helps parents see their baby’s abilities, preferences, and needs. I am training in the NBO and working toward certification under a mentor, [MENTOR NAME]. The visit is free, and it is part of my training.

2. What taking part involves

- One visit of about [VISIT LENGTH] at [VISIT LOCATION], with you or another family member present throughout.
- I will watch your baby quietly, then gently try observations of sleep, movement, reflexes, looking, listening, crying, and comforting, using a soft light, a rattle, and a red ball. Your baby may be briefly uncovered or undressed in a warm room. You may say no to any part.
- I may touch your baby’s hands, legs, and mouth, using clean hands or clean gloves, and I may briefly hold your baby to sit up or lie on the tummy.
- Together we will fill in a Parent Summary written in your baby’s voice. You keep the original.
- Optionally, a second visit at least a week later. This is never required.

3. What this is not

The visit is not a test, a medical examination, a diagnosis, or medical advice, and it does not replace your baby’s doctor. If I notice something I think you may want to talk through with your baby’s doctor, I will tell you kindly, and the decision is yours.

4. Who is visiting

I am a trainee and not yet certified. My certification mentor is [MENTOR NAME]. Another trainee or colleague may sit in as a “practice buddy” only if you agree below. They would keep everything confidential.

5. Possible discomfort and possible benefits

Risks are small. Your baby may fuss, cry, startle, or tire, and being uncovered may feel cool for a moment. I will comfort your baby with you and stop whenever you or your baby need it. Possible benefits include knowing your baby better, learning your baby’s cues and strengths, and ideas for soothing, sleep, and feeding cues. I cannot promise any particular result.

6. Voluntary, free, no payment

Taking part is your choice. You may say no, or stop at any time, without giving a reason and without any effect on your baby’s care or on your place in our parenting class. The visit is free, and there is no payment or gift for taking part. Joining the class is not needed for the visit, and the visit is not needed for the class.

7. Your information

What we collect	Your name and contact details. Your baby's name, date of birth, sex, and birth details (such as gestational age, weight, feeding, and which baby this is for you), if you wish to share them. Who was present and where. My observation notes, a short written narrative, and the Parent Summary. Your feedback, if you give it.
Why	To carry out and follow up the visit, and for my NBO certification training.
Who sees it	Only me and the Center's staff who need it for scheduling and records. The Center's Data Privacy Officer ([DPO NAME]) oversees how it is handled.
Shared for certification	To complete my certification, I email documents to my certification mentor and to the Brazelton Institute at Boston Children's Hospital in the United States. These carry only your baby's first initial, gestational age, and age at the visit, my observation record, my narrative, and a photo of the Parent Summary. They never include names, contact details, or addresses.
Other sharing	None, except if the law requires it or if someone's safety is at serious risk.
How long	Your private records are kept securely for [RETENTION PERIOD] and then deleted. Certification copies are held by my mentor and the Institute under their own policies.

Your rights under the Data Privacy Act of 2012 (Republic Act No. 10173) include the right to be informed, to access and correct your information, to object, to withdraw your consent, to ask for your information to be blocked or deleted, and to complain to the National Privacy Commission. To use these rights, contact the Center's Data Privacy Officer at info.connectedkidsph@gmail.com. If you withdraw, I will delete your private records and will ask my mentor and the Institute to remove the certification copies; I cannot guarantee what others hold once received.
